Microplastics

On 25 September 2023, the new EU regulation on microplastics (2023/2055) came into force, which defines the term microplastics in more detail and regulates it more strictly.

As a responsible company, we welcome the introduction of the Microplastics Regulation and support the goal of protecting the environment from the harmful effects of microplastics. We recognise the importance of environmental protection and are actively committed to making our products and processes more environmentally friendly.

Avery Zweckform is committed to taking all necessary measures in accordance with the Microplastics Regulation to ensure that our products do not increase the environmental impact of microplastics. We strive to use alternative materials and technologies to minimise the use of microplastics and promote sustainable solutions.

Through our efforts, we want to contribute to the protection of the environment and help maintain a clean and healthy environment for future generations. We are proud to do our part to reduce microplastics pollution and have a positive impact on the environment.

Do you need an up-to-date product-related declaration of compliance with the Microplastics Regulation? Contact us at:
